Reverend James Larson of the Elizabeth First Presbyterian Church conducted Baccalaureate services Sunday, May 26, 1972, featuring four student speakers. Jack Rife gave a poetry reading, while Dave Bishop spoke on "Beginnings." "The American Dream" was Cheryl Potter's topic, and Wayne Beyer talked of "The Human Millennium." Members of the graduating class joined in singing "Turn, Turn, Turn." Over $400 was presented to the school by the Class of '72 for the video-tape fund. A television antenna (CENTER, LEFT) was also installed.

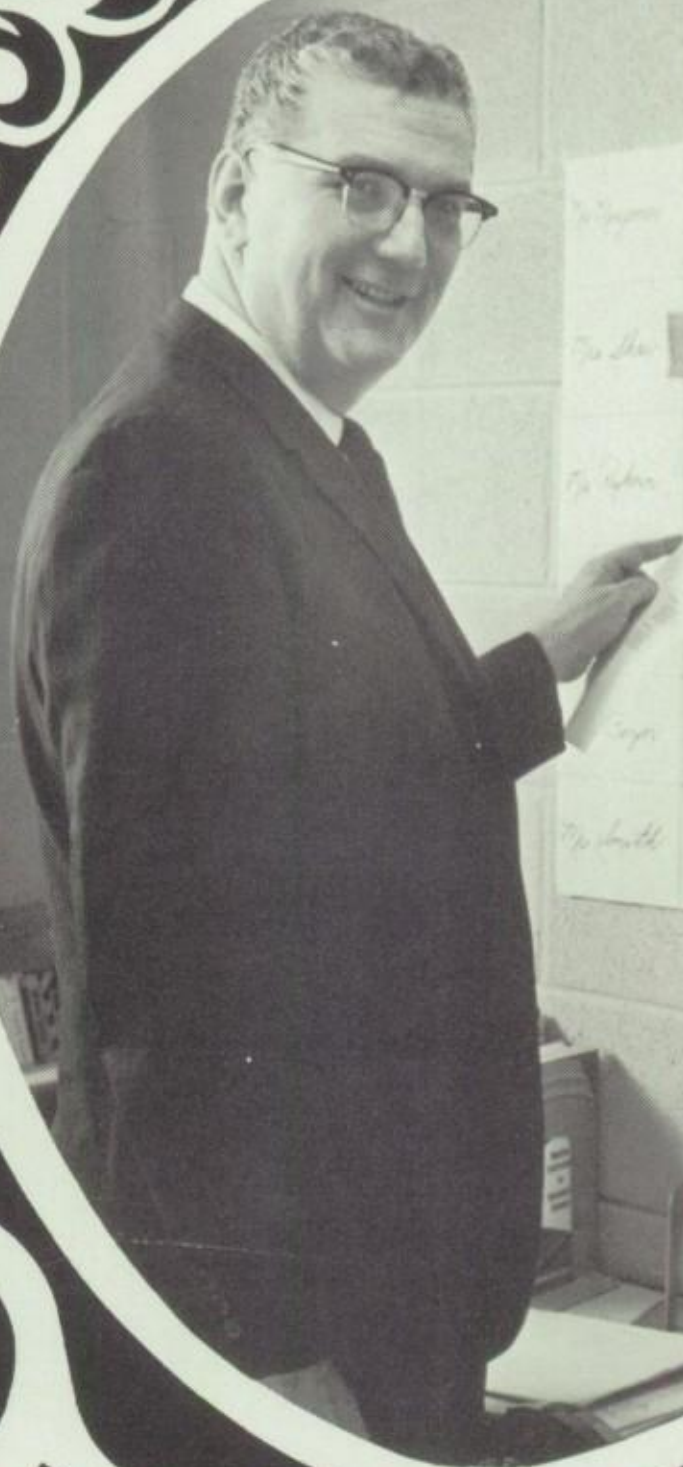

This view of the Elizabeth Township Cemetery should bring back memories to members of the Class of '72, for it was the money earned from mowing grass there that enabled the seniors to make their trip to Florida and Disney World.

Putting an Emphasis on the Future at EHS

Raymond I. Thom--to any graduate of Elizabeth High within the past fourteen years, this name will prompt a favorable reaction, for Mr. Thom has been working diligently to expand the education facilities of Unit District 208. As Superintendent of the school, Mr. Thom is responsible for leading the teaching staff, and also for the operation of the grade and high schools.

After working as a teacher and in private business, Mr. Thom served in the United States Navy, from 1943 to 1946, and was stationed in the Pacific Theater at the close of World War II. After college, he served as a part-time referee, and officiated many basketball games throughout the central section of Illinois. He was employed by high schools in south-central Illinois before he came to Elizabeth in 1958.

His college education included attendance at the University of Illinois and Northern Illinois University; he attended Southern Illinois University for both his Bachelor and Master of Science in Education degrees.

Mr. Thom also has taught many classes as a teacher--namely, fifth through eighth grades, and the following high school courses: typing, office practice, bookkeeping, and general business. This past year he taught business law, a course dealing with the many facets of law in the professions.

Education in the future is one of Mr. Thom's major concerns. Besides heading the faculty's study of curriculum reorganization, he has been active in the meetings of the rewriting of the Illinois State Plan for Education, gearing it to Illinois' new constitution.

He has been instrumental in the planning of the new Area Vocational Center just west of Elizabeth, which will serve all of the Jo Daviess County high schools and the Savanna High School in Carroll County. Formal planning for the center began in late 1969, and the ground-breaking ceremony was held October 18, 1971.

As Superintendent and teacher in the Elizabeth Public Schools, Mr. Thom continues his very busy career--putting an emphasis on the future.

"West Side Story"

"When You're a Jet . . ."

On Friday, March 24, and Saturday, March 25, a pulsating rhythm of rivalry and song filled the stage of Elizabeth High School as students presented their third annual musical, "West Side Story." Time was turned back to the 1950's as the curtain opened to reveal a run-down block on the west side of New York.

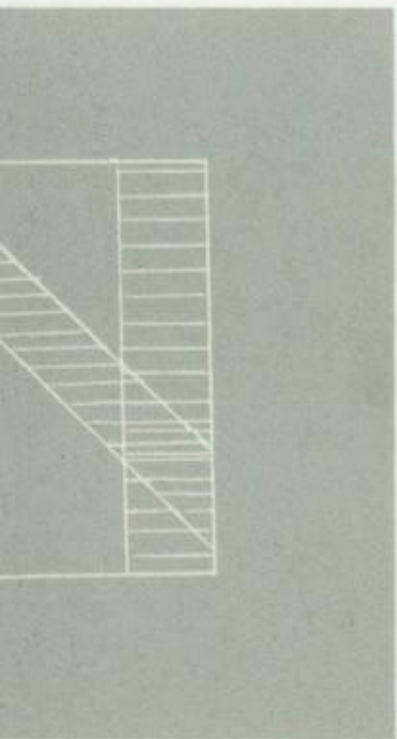

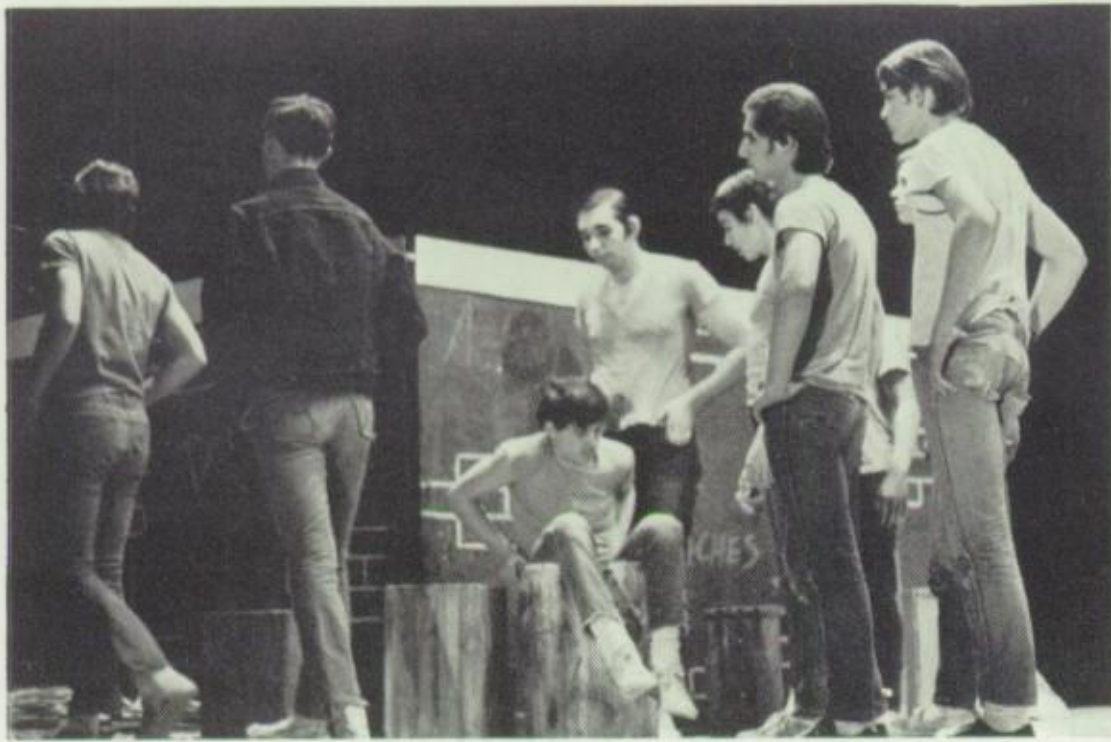

The first scene introduced the conflict between the American Jets and the Puerto Rican Sharks. Joe Ambrosia, as Riff, coolly played the leader of the Jets, while Scott Price, with an effective blend of cockiness and pride, portrayed Bernardo, rough and ready leader of the Sharks. The tense friction produced by the hatred of the two gangs brought forth the suspense and excitement which take place every day on the streets of the big cities' ghetto areas.

approval of this love with particular flair in her rendition of "A Boy Like That."

Rudy Appleby and Jim Knauer expertly portrayed the hard-nosed cops, and the sarcastic and witty Jets boomed out "Officer Krupke" in response--a comical number in which Herby Wilson as Action really did look "dis-toibed," and the gang members tried to explain why they were juvenile delinquents.

Doc, "the village idiot" (played by Don Reusch), really made the crowd burst with laughter because of the way he expressed himself. And as Gladhand, Roger Appleby brought a sense of comedy into the play the way he talked and walked.

seat. This carefree mood was short-lived, however, as the inevitable confrontation of the two rival gangs occurred at the end of the first act. Both Riff and Bernardo were killed in the climactic rumble, and the curtain closed with sirens wailing and gang members fleeing.

Unquestionably, the highlight of the second act was Tony's death scene. As the solemn procession of Sharks and Jets bore Tony's body offstage, the audience responded with a standing ovation both nights.

But it took more than the forty-seven actors on stage to produce this show; about forty additional students contributed their talents in other ways. Many Saturdays of hard work were put into constructing sets, painting flats, and rigging lights, under the supervision of stage managers, Dave Bishop and Rick

"West Side Story," like "Oliver!" and "Oklahoma!" before it, showed the result of a small school's co-operative efforts. Once again Elizabeth High has broken its attendance record for a school musical. This year's presentation brought in almost 1,200 people.

Audiences at both performances of "West Side Story" seemed to echo Action's reply to Anybodys' "YOU DONE GOOD, BUDDY BOY!" As the cast sang "Tonight" for an encore, many on stage and in the audience were crying tears of joy. And in singing their encore, the cast in effect, was saying: "THANKS, DADDY-O!"--

EHS Musicians Take Part in County Festival

The eighteenth annual Jo Daviess County Music Festival was held March 13, 1972, at Warren.

County Music Festival is an annual event sponsored by the high schools of Jo Daviess County as a co-operative attempt at better communication with neighboring schools and recognition of talented music students.

County Music Festival is a day spent in meeting new friends, playing music, and learning from fellow members and conductor, culminated with a concert in the evening.

The participants and guest conductors are selected by the county music teachers with the majority of the conductors coming from mid-western colleges and universities.

Twenty Superiors to EHS Music Students

EHS students received seventeen superior ratings at the state music contest for solos and ensembles. At the music contest for organizations, the mixed chorus, girls' chorus, and band all received superior ratings. In total, twenty Division I ratings were earned.

The music boosters this year raised funds with a bake sale for Galena Days, candy sales at concerts, and the traditional calendar sales. Officers were: Mrs. Herbert Wilson, President; Mrs. Wayne Schumacher, Vice President; Mrs. Glen Albrecht, Secretary; and Mrs. Robert Ertmer, Treasurer.

"Holiday in Venice"

Kathy Altfillisch and Brad Beyer were crowned king and queen of the Junior-Senior Prom, Saturday evening, May 13, 1972, in the grade school gymnasium. Last year's queen, Connie Haas, and her escort, Jeff Stadel, officiated at the coronation.

At the banquet, which preceded the dance, Junior Class President Rudy Appleby gave the welcome, while Senior Class President Wayne Beyer gave the response. The Classics provided music for promgoers in a setting which created the mood for a "Holiday in Venice."

Mrs. Dawe and EHS Students Receive Honors

Mrs. Dorothy Dawe, who retired from EHS after 19 years of teaching, was honored with many gifts and farewell tributes. She received a standing ovation from the student body and staff during the annual Awards Day, held May 26.

Poems by Kathleen Albrecht and Cheryl Potter were published by the National Poetry Press. Kathleen's poem, "One Way Out," and Cheryl's poem, "The Eyes," appeared in the semi-annual anthology of high school poetry, YOUNG AMERICA SINGS.

Denise Wilson's essay, "Galena's Historic DeSoto House," was published in the ILLINOIS HISTORY magazine. Denise was one of 26 Illinois students to receive State Historian of the Year Awards.

Cheryl Potter, EHS senior, was named this year's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

GAA and E-Club —

A key part of the Girls' Athletic Association (GAA) and the lettermen's club (E-Club) is the spirit of sportsmanship.

A candy sale and T-shirt sale were among the money-making projects for GAA this year. An ice skating and sleigh-riding party was held, and members participated in several different sports on Wednesday nights after school. These included volleyball, basketball, softball, and trampoline.

A track meet at Savanna was scheduled, but, because of wet weather, was cancelled. The final event of the year

The newly formed E-Club has become a strong organization due to very active membership. To be eligible for membership, a boy must have earned a varsity letter in a high school sport.

Resource Center Enriches Young Minds

Throughout the country, the traditional concept of the library as a drab, uninviting room located in an obscure corner of the school building is becoming obsolete. Now there is brightness, activity, excitement.

On the shelves, musty, forbidding-looking volumes are being replaced by books with colorful covers, globes, games, models, and machines. Architects' designs for new buildings show the library as the hub of the school, with classrooms projecting outward from it like the spokes in a wheel. And libraries are not even called "libraries" any more; they are "instructional materials centers" or "media centers." Thus, the Elizabeth elementary library is now known as "the resource center."

Renovation here began last spring and summer. Students helped pack books in cartons; then shelves were removed, and an entire wall was dismantled, making the

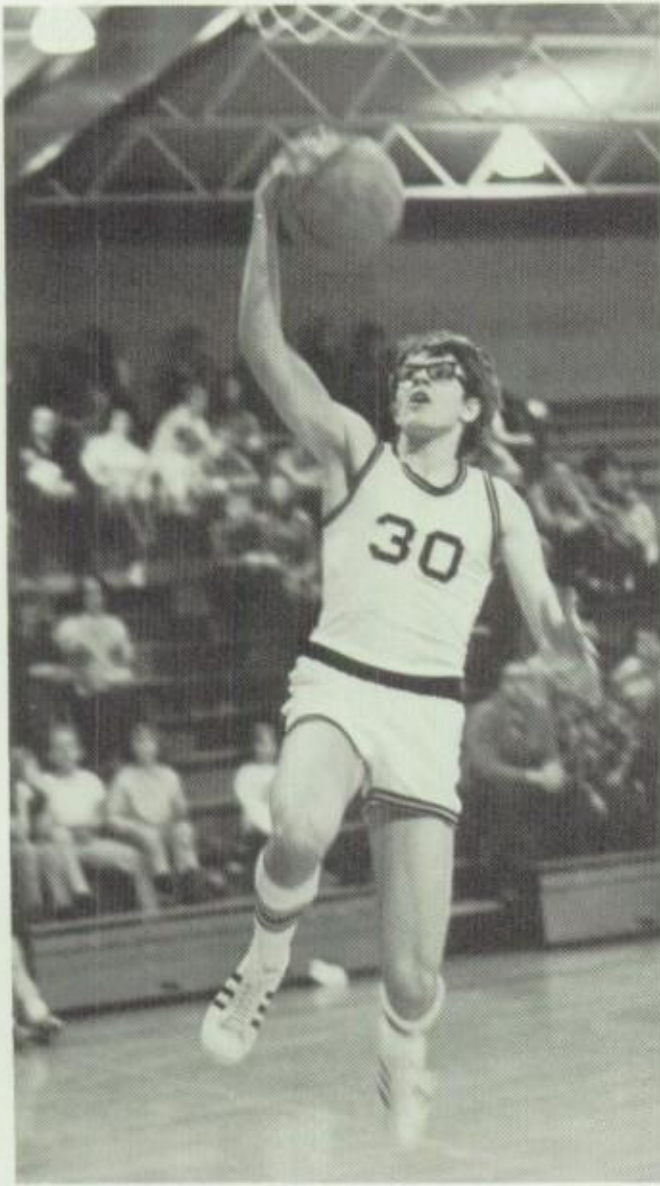

Another new and interesting feature of the center is a group of twelve individual study carrels. Six of them are equipped with electrical outlets and are therefore termed "wet" carrels. In these a study may work with machines, such as the film-strip previewers, which require electricity to operate. Battery-powered equipment, such as the voice mirrors, may be used in the six "dry" carrels, which have no electrical connections. room twice as large as before, and providing additional space for the steadily increasing book collection. Audio-visual materials were added to supplement the books and to make the library a more complete learning center.

The new Audio-visual aids include filmstrips and previewers, tapes and tape recorders equipped with earphones, transparencies, voice mirrors which help students improve speech skills, reading pacers and timers that assist in accelerating the reading rate, the controlled reader which is an aid to reading comprehension, and the tachistoscope which is useful in the subject areas of mathematics, spelling, and vocabulary. Teaching aids for use in the resource center include globes, educational games, charts, sets of large pictures called study prints, and a screen for use with projectors.

Cross Country

Ambrosia Sets New Course Record

The Elizabeth Cross Country runners were undefeated in six regular meets this year. Top scorer, Joe Ambrosia, finished the season with a new course record with a time of 17:56 at a distance of 2.8 miles. Ambrosia took firsts at all but one meet when a Shannon runner out-legged him. He later beat his competitor at a tri-school meet which included Shannon and Galena.

Harvey Morhardt contributed to EHS victories by capturing second place four times, with Jeff Walker close behind, taking two seconds and a third. Walker also was the first Elizabeth runner to place at the Polo invitational meet, in which the Terrapins finished fifteenth.

Eighth Grade — "Curtain Going Up!"

-HIGH HONORS-

Dianne Brown Jane Grube
Julie Graves Albert Haring
Mary Beth Madigan

For the eighth grade, the phrase "Curtain Going Up!" took on a double meaning. First, money earned by the class, added to a fund established by previous classes, was used to purchase new curtains for the stage in the grade school gym. And, second, while members of the eighth grade graduating class formally marked the end of their elementary school years in ceremonies May 26, they also looked forward to the future-- "Curtain Going Up!" on four more educational years at Elizabeth High.

Starting out the year, the eighth grade class made a tour of the Galena court house and jail on September 23. Two days later class members were off on a trip to Chicago's Brookfield were first-prize winners for the seventh and eighth grades, respectively.

Zoo. Then, on March 13, "Slippery Smith's Superstars" (TOP, RIGHT AND CENTER) competed with a team of boys, coached by Mr. Burgett, in an action-packed basketball game.

On April 28, the eighth grade again visited Chicago. At O'Hare International Airport the class visited the terminal, customs, and one of United's jumbo jets. A 43-second ride up to the 94th floor of the John Hancock Building and a 4-hour tour of the Museum of Science and Industry completed the day's schedule.

By the light of a Silver
Moon.
The haze outstretches its flowing grip,
And the earth succumbs with vacant faces.
"Again it comes," cries out your spirit,
"Let everyone rise up to their places!"
Once more you must march
to find yourself,
But time is short, and you have no traces.
Of where to look or go, or search.

By the light of a Silver
Moon.
You trace that path which you have before,
And find that your cause,
just as you, is lost.
Yet you must not stop. The night moves on,
And you can't afford a worthless night's cost.
So you push till dawn's dim light is seen
On the hills that are far and distant crossed.
To where to look to go, or search

Epilogue
by Jack Rife

By the light of a Silver
Moon.
You see that the night once more is spent,
And tears take the place where they've been before.
"Oh, why can't I find myself just once?"
You cry as you've cried-- yet you cry once more.
The night again and again
will show
That gone are your chances to find the door.
To where to look or go, or search.

By the light of a Silver
Moon.
You tread towards the home
where you lie, Awaiting for something you've you've never touched.
And once at rest, you suddenly find That life was the door, which behind it such Fine memories left a lasting dream
Of times you laughed and loved living so much.
The time to look or go, or search is gone.
